

Primary Election.

Pursuant to notice the Democratic Central Committee met at Millersburg, on the 18th inst., and adopted the following resolutions:

Resolved, That the Democracy of Holmes County are hereby requested to meet in the several townships on Saturday the 24th day of June, 1864, at the usual time and place, and proceed in the usual manner to vote for the nomination of a candidate for Sheriff, a candidate for County Recorder, and a candidate for County Commissioner to be supported at the ensuing annual election.

Resolved, That the return judges from the several townships meet at the Central Committee at Millersburg on Monday, the 28th day of June, at 10 o'clock A. M., to count the votes and declare the result.

By Order of Committee,
April 28th, 1864. WILLIS HOOFLAND, Chairman.

In pursuance of the above call, we are authorized to make the following announcements:

FOR RECORDER
ANDREW J. BELL,
GEORGE L. COOK,
JOHN S. ORR,
FOR COMMISSIONER
JOHN GRAY,
JAMES K. HENDERSON,
SIMON SNOW,
JAMES SKEELLY,
JESSE A. HARRIS.

To Drafted Men.

INTERNAL REVENUE OFFICE,
MILLERSBURG, O., May 17, 1864.

All drafted men in Holmes county can procure certificates of exemption from the present call, by paying three hundred dollars each, to the undersigned, at any time before being mustered into the U. S. service.

Only U. S. money received.

R. C. BROWN,
Receiver of commutation money for Holmes County, O.

FRESH FISH.—The best in the market, at H. REED'S Provision Store.

CAPT. WICK.—It is reported that Capt. Joseph Wick, of the 122d Reg't, formerly a citizen of this place, was killed in one of the recent bloody battles in Virginia. His death will be deeply regretted by those who knew him.

SCOTCH.—The Sheriff's great "ratter" is dead again. He is supposed to have committed suicide by taking strychnine. He was fond of nutmeg, and a difficulty in procuring the required supply, it is thought, impelled him to the rash act.

HOW THEY FIGHT.—If abolition newspapers are to be believed, and we suppose it would be disloyal to say they are not, the rebels are out of clothing, food and ammunition and nearly all anxious to swear allegiance to LINCOLN'S proclamations. We will not dispute this, but we must say they fight remarkably well under the circumstances.

NOT GOING.—EZRA MAPLE, proprietor of Maple's Factory, on Martin's Creek, who announced last week that he was going to war and therefore had closed his factory, is again at home, has fitted up his machinery and is about to open out his establishment with renewed facilities for accommodating his customers.

NO RELATION.—It is said, "cleanliness is next to godliness." If this be true, and we have no doubt of its truth, for it is to be found in the Good Book, some butter we got the other day was made by one who could have been a member of none but an abolition church, since not one hair in ten thousand was half rotten.

THE TEST OF SCIENCE.—A close analysis of the celebrated Chemical Salutaris, made by De Land & Co., at Fairport, Monroe county, N. Y., will show that it contains no matter deleterious to health, and when used in the quantities prescribed will produce the most wholesome and nutritious bread. It is put up in red papers, and sold by the popular grocers everywhere.

NATIONAL GUARDS.—The National Guards from this county voted against going out of the State; but nevertheless, as we supposed would be the case, they were taken out. A reorganization was made which threw out some officers. Capt. Kelly, and Lieutenants Warner and Griffith were excused from their commands and have returned home. Perhaps others have returned, but these are all we have heard of. The men were sent to Washington last Monday morning.

WHAT DOCTORS, MINISTERS AND PROFESSORS THINK OF THEM.—"I have never changed my mind respecting Brown's Bronchial Troches from the first, excepting to think better of that which I began thinking well of."—Rev. Henry Ward Beecher.

"Great service in subduing hoarseness."—Rev. Daniel Wise, New York.

"The Troches are a staff of life to me."—Prof. Edward North, President of Hamilton College, Clinton, N. Y.

"A simple and elegant combination for Coughs, &c."—Dr. G. F. Bigelow, Boston.

"I recommend their use to public speakers."—Rev. E. Chapin.

CHANGE OF TERMS.—We had hoped to continue the FARMER at the old price, but paper, ink and other material have more than doubled in price, and at least a hundred per cent has been added to the cost of living, therefore we find it impossible to continue at our old terms without greater loss than we are able to stand. From and after the first of July the FARMER will be two dollars in advance, or two dollars and fifty cents if not paid within the year. Those who have paid in advance, or who may pay before the first of July will get the paper for such time as they have paid at the old terms, but after the expiration of the time for which they have paid they will be charged two dollars. All new subscribers must pay in advance.

Nearly all the papers in the State have advanced their terms. So soon as we can afford to do so we will return to the old terms.

(For the Farmer.)

MR. EDITOR.—I notice in the local column of the Farmer of the 12th inst., that I am charged with belonging to the volunteer militia, having a furlough of one hundred days, and drawing soldier's pay from government at all times of the same time.

Your local must have been mistaken, or had been wrongly informed. For, first: I receive no pay from government as a soldier. Second: I received no furlough for one hundred, or any other number of days. And third: For the last thirty months I have belonged to military company, or organization whatever.

H. H. ROBINSON.

TO CANDIDATES.—None of the candidates have yet said anything to us about primary election tickets. If they want any it would be as well to notify us pretty soon as they must be printed next week to secure circulation over the county. The custom has been to charge each candidate one dollar for Primary Election tickets, and then the candidate would forget to pay it. We received $2 for printing tickets for the nomination one year ago; the balance is charged. We have had to get all we want charged at present, and hereafter the money must be paid or we will not print the candidate's name on the ticket. Any one who gives or sends us one dollar between now and say Friday of next week, will have his name printed on the ticket. Those who fail to have the funds forthcoming must depend upon their friends to write. The candidates are all our friends, we would like to vote for all of them; but we must have prompt pay for our work.

The Cleveland Convention.

The consideration of greatest interest in connection with the proposed radical convention is the strength it can wield in advancement of its aims, and the probable extent of its detraction from the administration party. B. Gratz Brown, Wendell Phillips, and General Fremont, leading the radical abolitionists and the German voters, present an array so formidable that the Seward-Lincoln wing of the administration party are aware that its defeat is inevitable if the convention be held and General Fremont nominated. We think the call is in form and substance a declaration that the parties have absolved themselves from all connection with the political organization which elected Mr. Lincoln. The New Nation, the recognized newspaper organ of General Fremont, declares that the so called republican party is dead; that it was "dishonored and killed by the incapacity of those called to the direction of affairs."

The handwork of the Secretary of the Treasury is clearly traceable in the call. He has become convinced that the President will control the convention at Baltimore, and, smarting under disappointed ambition and the open insult of General Blair's reappointment, he has determined to defeat Mr. Lincoln in the election. The call says:

"We further declare that we do not recognize in the Baltimore convention the essential conditions of a truly national convention. Its proximity to the centre of all the interested influences of the administration, its distance from the centre of the country, its mode of convocation, the corrupt practices to which it has been and probably will be subjected, and the permit the people to assemble there with an expectation of being able to deliberate at full liberty."

"The corrupting influences to which it has been subjected" can only refer to the pressure used by the President to obtain expressions in his favor from State Legislatures, and, smarting under disappointed ambition, Mr. Chase, and he felt himself obliged, in consequence, to announce his withdrawal. No one imagined that it was of so positive a character as to preclude his acceptance of a nomination.

Masses, Greeley, Bryant, and others of the administration party, recognized as leaders and entitled to respectful consideration, asked for a postponement of the Baltimore convention, which was peremptorily denied. Their names do not appear in the call for a convention at Cleveland, but they are now in a position in which they can with entire consistency elect to which division of the party they will attach themselves. The proceedings and result of the Cleveland convention will of course have much weight in determining their choice. If it becomes clearly apparent that the nominee of the Cleveland convention will detract so much from the strength of the Baltimore candidate as to insure his defeat, these gentlemen who have asked for a postponement will not conceive themselves bound by party obligations, but will support the candidate whose platform most nearly coincides with their individual opinions.

There is no probability that the breach in the party can be healed. The cohesion of the republic has been attracted toward this quarrel, because the Cleveland Convention will know that the fact of its assemblage will cut it off from all claim of patronage at the hands of the Baltimore nominee should be elected. As to terms of peace offered to subservient to the passions and distrust existing between the parties, and especially will this be the case should Mr. Lincoln and his chances are as a hundred to one to be elected in Baltimore.

It is useless for the Seward and Lincoln wing and to urge that the division of the party will lead to the election of a "pro-slavery" democrats. The politicians leading in this movement are actual by hatred, not philanthropy. The fanatics, under the guidance of Wendell Phillips, have learned that recently impracticable measures, relying upon public opinion for development, may be carried by persevering and clamorous agitation. Phillips is a very patient man. He and Garrison started with a small band, which have rolled until the constantly increasing size and momentum has enabled them to carry Mr. Lincoln on into the White House. Four years is not time to Phillips. He has a great work to accomplish. He would rather elect a candidate who would attract him in 1872, than help elect a candidate which does not suit him in 1864. Fanaticism is contemptuous of the practical, but it is therefore always unsuccessful. Will our readers pardon us in wishing success to the Cleveland Convention, if we assigned a misapprehension to a lady? "When the devil is at war, we are glad to hear that an insurrection has broken out in hell."—Chicago Times.

Was the Battle of the Wilderness a Victory?

A distinguished foreign officer who witnessed the battle of the Wilderness through-out, and followed attentively all our movements without participating in the fight, sums up the effect of that bloody conflict in the following manner:

Preservation of the battle field by the Union forces; failure of the rebels in driving them out of it; repulse of the Union forces whenever they attempted to attack any of the rebel intrenchments; superiority of the rebel tactics on the battle field; voluntary withdrawal of the rebels. All these elements taken into consideration, he arrives at the conclusion that the rebels have not, unpunished, pulled back by reason of the fighting; but judging from the action in a military point of view, the battle of the Wilderness may be called a drawn battle. He says also that the manner in which both parties were located inclines him to think that our loss must be far greater than that of the rebels.

He does not indulge in the common belief that the retreat of Lee has been brought about by a failure, but by causes disconnected with the actual conflict, such as Gen. Butler's demonstration against Richmond, the fear of being cut off from his rear from his basis of supply; the necessity of restoring his communication with North Carolina, &c. In his estimation, no other reasons but the pressing necessity of protecting his rear can be assigned for the retreat of the rebels.

Forney, in the Philadelphia Press, proves that Lincoln is a good Garrisonian Abolitionist, and therefore entitled to the confidence of the "radicals." For once Forney has told the truth. Garrison's doctrine is that "this Union is a lie. The American Union is an imposture. I am for its overthrow. Up with the flag of disunion."

Heavy Fighting—Gen. Warren Reported Killed.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Accounts from the Army of the Potomac concur that there was heavy fighting yesterday, and about five o'clock in the afternoon an attack was made upon the rebel batteries. It is stated that after the assault had commenced some time it was found that the rebel batteries could not be carried without, probably, a great sacrifice of life, and the effort for a time was abandoned.

It is reported here this morning that Gen. Warren was wounded yesterday, and died on the way to Fredericksburg. The fighting yesterday afternoon is said to have been very severe, as the heavy artillery was brought into action on both sides. The result, so far as known this morning, was to our advantage. The rebels attempted to get on the rear portion of our army to obtain supplies, but were driven off with great loss. Fighting was resumed to-day.

Four Hundred Pieces of Artillery Engaged on Tuesday.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The World's special says Grant moved four hundred pieces of artillery against Lee's position at Spottsylvania Court House on Tuesday, and fired for two hours. When the assault was finally ordered the advancing column met with but feeble resistance. Lee's line did not waver until just before the close of the battle—then it fell back and we gained considerable ground.

A "gent" was asked what kind of a "gal" he preferred for a wife. One he said, that wasn't prodigal but frugal, a true gal, and suited to his conjugal taste.

Why is Old Abe a bad architect? Because he is all the time busy making drafts to supply the deficiency of his previous drawings.
